2015 Annual Report
Family Services of Westchester
Making a difference. Right at home.
On Wednesday, April 22, 2015 we held our annual Star Gala at the Glen Island Harbour Club in New Rochelle. Over 200 guests attended the event to honor Eastchester residents Sybil and Les Rosenberg with the Star Philanthropist Award, New Rochelle resident and Founder of FSW’s The Sharing Shelf, Deborah Blatt with the Star Volunteer Award, and TD Bank with the Corporate Philanthropy Award. Christa Lauri, Anchor of Verizon FIOS 1 News, served as Master of Ceremonies. The highlight of the gala was the personal account courageously shared by Larry Watts, a participant in FSW’s Fathers Count program, of his journey through some challenging times and the support he received from FSW.

“Appreciate your invaluable service@FSWestchester uplifting Fathers, Families and Children. Keep me posted on how I can support your efforts.”

Message from the Board Chairman and President/CEO

Dear Friends,

Thank you for making 2015 yet another year of truly remarkable achievements for Family Services of Westchester (FSW)! This year, we created a new gathering space for seniors and children, started a new conversation on gun violence and expanded several of our programs to serve Westchester County. This was only possible with help from our generous individual, corporate, foundation and government partners.

As a leading agency in mental health and social services within the county, FSW continues to serve more than 30,000 children, individuals and families each year.

Since opening our doors in 1954, FSW has grown tremendously. We currently operate 50 programs that continue to respond to the needs of those in our communities seeking assistance. And with nine centers countywide, we aim to reach each individual and family as close to their dwelling as possible.

This year, we opened the second site of My Second Home, our award-winning intergenerational adult day program, in White Plains. My Second Home caters to the demanding need of finding a safe space for seniors with Alzheimer’s disease and dementia. This safe haven provides the unique opportunity for seniors to interact with children for one hour each day. The daily interaction creates an intangible, needed bond that brings joy to both seniors and children.

We also recognized the need to give voice to several issues within the communities we serve including gun violence and so we helped start the conversation. With funding from the Department of Criminal Justice, FSW was able to establish Project SNUG in the Mount Vernon community. Project SNUG aims to detect and interrupt conflicts, identify and treat those individuals at high risk, as well as change the social norm. This program has influenced the lives of many within the targeted community and will continue to do so.

After more than six decades serving Westchester, we are looking back at all we have accomplished and we are beyond excited about the years ahead.

Creating an Intergenerational Gathering Spot

At the Lanza Family Center for All Ages (CFAA) children, teens, and seniors come together at one site to participate in programs, share experiences, and benefit from one another, just as they would in a family setting. CFAA, housed in a beautifully renovated building that opened in April 2015, features two sections: the Sperling Family Adults Wing and the Marjorie and Richard Dammann Youth Wing. The Sperling Family Adults Wing was designed to provide older adults with daily socialization in a safe, home-like environment through our award-winning program, My Second Home. The Marjorie and Richard Dammann Youth Wing accommodates three classrooms where preschoolers from the White Plains School District participate in morning or afternoon classes. Both seniors and children follow a reassuring daily routine at CFAA.

The two groups come together for a formal program that includes a range of activities such as arts and crafts, dancing, storytelling, gardening, or games. In the afternoon, a second class of children visits, offering another chance for the generations to mix. Quiet spaces are available for seniors when respite is needed. They can choose to read or listen to music.

In addition to these daily services, which benefit both participants and their caregivers, CFAA also offers weekly and monthly education sessions on parenting skills, aging issues, nutrition, health care, and other topics.

2015 In Review

Each year we strive to go beyond years past and embrace the challenges facing our community. This fiscal year was no different. We’ve risen to the occasion by helping more than 30,000 Westchester residents.

New Ways to Help the Community Fight Gun Violence

Project SNUG is based on the CURE Violence health model, a highly successful violence prevention approach developed in Chicago in the mid-1990s. Treating violence as a public health epidemic, Project SNUG uses strategies similar to those employed by public health professionals to prevent the spread of the disease in the community—detecting and interrupting conflicts, identifying and treating the highest risk individuals, and changing social norms. Since 2014, FSW has been leading this effort in Mount Vernon, where we serve youths and young adults between the ages of 16-25 years. In its first year Project SNUG has impacted the lives of more than 100 youths, countless families, and the Mount Vernon community as a whole.

One participant, a young man named Keith, credits SNUG for changing the way that he views violence. Since leaving prison in 2014, he has encountered several potential conflicts that tested his resolve, and in each case he resisted violence and solved the challenge respectfully. During the past year Keith has become more communicative and responsive to positive feedback, ultimately earning employment in dietary services at a community nursing home. Keith has not been arrested since joining the SNUG Program and more importantly, Keith has been a positive leading example to his friends and the youth in our community.
Providing Rides to Those Who Need It

In 2015, RideConnect continued to see unprecedented growth, from 993 rides and referrals in 2012 to 13,831 rides and referrals in 2015. In addition, RideConnect’s volunteer base continued to grow, reaching 100 volunteer drivers in 2015. Our drivers hail from every part of Westchester, from Yonkers to Pound Ridge. RideConnect helps put the ‘life’ back in living by providing transportation to healthcare appointments, shopping, and other errands.

“I am sincerely grateful for the loving assistance you are giving, which in itself says, ‘I am my brother’s keeper,’” a client told us.

We Believe in them. They Believe in Themselves.

The I Believe, I Achieve (IBIA) program provides low income middle school students with support to help them succeed academically, socially, and emotionally. Each youth in the program is matched with a mentor who meets with the student weekly to provide tutoring and act as a role model. The program aims to improve peer relationships, build self-confidence, improve school attendance, and boost academics.

Three of our six children graduated with high achievement in academics and received a $500 scholarship from Laura Saggese of the Vera and Walter Scherr Family Foundation. The benefits of the program affect the entire family—in one case an IBIA participant’s mother, inspired by her son’s progress, enrolled in college to pursue a degree in Social Work. She wants to be able to give her son opportunity by bettering her situation while also giving back to her community. Participants and their parents also visited Washington D.C., thanks to a generous donation from FSW’s Junior Board. The students and their families viewed the monuments and toured the White House.

Fathers Count, Families Count

Families from the Fathers Count Program spent an evening under the Big Top at the Big Apple Circus. We would like to extend our thanks to Bloomberg, LP and FSW’s Junior Board Member Adam Goldsmith who made this opportunity possible. This was the first circus adventure for more than 95% of the participating kids (age four to 10)!

The Fathers Count program empowers men to be better parents and providers as they transition back to the community from incarceration. This was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for the children to spend a special evening with their fathers while experiencing the wonder of the circus.

Bloomberg provided round trip transportation on a luxury bus between Yonkers and Lincoln Center, along with three wonderful Bloomberg volunteers. The families were greeted at the doors of Lincoln Center with trays of delicious hot chocolate and peppermint and spent the first part of the evening interacting with circus performers, making crowns, and taking photos with Elsa from the movie Frozen on the red carpet. The families then had the pleasure of seeing the circus and enjoying dinner.

Youth Residence

DaJanei came to us in early 2013 because she was no longer able to live at home with her family. She struggled in school both academically and socially; despite her struggles she liked going to school and had a great desire to succeed and, as she stated, “become somebody.” With time, ongoing therapy, and support DaJanei was able to strive and make the necessary changes that led to success. Her school work improved significantly and she has become inspired and sets goals.

DaJanei is evolving into a wonderful young adult. She now hopes to become a social worker or a law enforcement officer.

The Power of New Shoes

Through our program The Sharing Shelf, more than 50,000 items of clothing, shoes, coats and accessories are distributed to 2,000 children and teens who are living at or below the poverty line. In addition to operating this year-round resource, our Backpack to School initiative distributes free backpacks filled with school supplies to children in need. Our Teen Boutique events offer teenage girls the unique opportunity to “shop” for free clothing, shoes and accessories. Teen Boutique, which is held both in the spring and fall, allows teenage girls to feel empowered by making choices and taking pride in their appearance.

During our November 2014 Teen Boutique event, a mother of two teen shoppers found a pair of navy shoes. Those shoes, she said, matched perfectly with an outfit she wore to a job interview days later. The mother was hired and said that her life was transformed. She can now pay her bills and, for the first time in years, could buy Christmas presents for her children. She credits those shoes and Teen Boutique for her good fortune.

A New Opportunity

Men and women returning to the community after incarceration face a long, difficult transition. In addition to addressing immediate practical needs, such as housing, employment, health care, food, and clothing, newly released individuals often struggle to restore relationships, re-build self-esteem, establish healthy routines, and set long-term goals. To succeed in the community, they often need additional life-skills training to replace the social isolation of incarceration with a social network of community connections. EMERGE (Educating Mothers to Embrace Re-entry and Gain Employment) works with incarcerated women to prepare them for reentry into the community.

Thanks to EMERGE, one recently released woman, Linda, a 53-year old woman who overcame an addiction to heroin, was able to get a new start. Shortly after leaving prison, she was diagnosed with breast cancer, and needed extra support. FSW connected her to a mentor. With encouragement from her mentor Linda has not allowed her breast cancer stop her from pursuing her dream. She is currently enrolled in a Peer Support Certification class and she hopes to work as a case manager assisting other women who are struggling with addiction and a history of incarceration.
Our Junior Board is comprised of volunteers who support the Board of Directors and promote the mission of FSW through educational, fundraising and service initiatives. As a group of motivated, community minded, and philanthropic young professionals, the Junior Board helps to raise FSW’s visibility as well as identify and connect resources to the organization. They organize a variety of fundraising projects to support their Youth Enrichment Fund which focuses on enriching the lives of the children and youth in FSW’s programs through special programs, field trips, and service projects.

The Junior Board awarded grants to 12 FSW programs last year including funding the Summer Experience for the “I Believe, I Achieve” program of Big Brothers Big Sisters, Bienvenidas Girls (now called Newcomers), “Animals Around Us” for the Early Head Start program, “BUILD” for the Fathers Count program and the JEWEL Enrichment Program at My Second Home, among others.
FWSW volunteers help us provide support to the 30,000 people we serve. We appreciate all that you do and all those you help.

A Volunteer Spotlight: In recognition of World Alzheimer’s Day, we spoke with a man who knows it well. Dave took care of his wife during her four remaining years after developing Alzheimer’s. He fell into depression afterwards and when his doctor’s first suggestion of medication was declined, volunteering became the treatment. Two years ago Dave connected with My Second Home in Mt. Kisco and he has been volunteering there ever since. He works with the Evening Edition program, where people in the early stages of Alzheimer’s and dementia can come to socialize and enjoy activities, while giving their caretakers much needed time off. Dave runs breathing exercises and assists with the current events and entertainment portions of the program. He also assists when children come to participate in activities with the older adults. Dave says he has made huge progress towards recovery due to his volunteering for the program. “I went from a 2 or 3 out of 10 to an 8. That’s an 80% recovery, pretty good.”
